

About The Author

Alison Neuman graduated from Grant MacEwan with her Bachelor of Applied Communications in Professional Writing Degree. Her thrill for secret agent literature, movie, and television shows and her own confinement to a wheelchair inspired Ice Rose. Other writing credits include several magazine and journal articles, lyrics, and a co-written screenplay. Alison Neuman lives in Edmonton, Alberta. www.alisonneuman.ca

By Alison Neuman
Trade Paper, 307 pages,
Juvenile Fiction/Law and Crime JUV021000
Juvenile Fiction/Love and Romance JUV026000
Juvenile Fiction/Mysteries and Detective Stories JUV028000
US $14.95/CAN $15.95
ISBN: 978-1-935517-11-5

Ice Rose

An explosion at Christopher Morris' recording studio leaves his teenage daughter Elissa's life in turmoil with Christopher missing, and Elissa's mobility taken away ; even worse, it exposes her parents' lives as secret agents. No longer able to fit into her old world, Elissa embarks on a journey far away from the rock star daughter and dancer existence she knew. Acceptance to Madisyn Academy takes her out of her comfort zone and into danger – into the relentless world of the Sunglass Man, a stalker and a link to her dad's mission.

At Madisyn Academy, Elissa trains to be a secret agent in spite of prejudicial issues over use of her wheel chair, and learns to trust her intuition and believe in her abilities. As an active agent, she completes challenges, falling for fellow student Benjamin along the way. With her new canine sidekick, Morocco, she exposes the danger of her dad's mission and fights to unlock the truth about the mysterious software called Ice Rose. Elissa soon finds herself picking up in her dad's place, needing to complete the mission in order to stop The Northern Elimination Retaliation Deployment (NERD) from taking power. She just hopes she does not lose Benjamin or her missing dad along the way.

Another Publication From The Shelves Of

